

"Bourbon before breakfast, death before dishonor..."

To 6th Battalion,

Thank you all for participating in our formal command climate survey. As the sole administrator and data analyst of this survey, I conducted open-source research to clone, modify, and develop questions from the official 2022, and 2023 DEOCS surveys. This survey was facilitated by myself as a means to gather more aggregate data about our commands' cultures/climates for the use of systemic growth and understanding. With 81% completion, the survey has provided valuable insights, but only partially accurate metrics. The metrics produced are the result of over 13,000 closed-choice data points, and they have all been carefully strung together to inform 6BATT Staff & Unit Commands. The data has been handled with anonymity prioritized so that not even I could discern the author of any response, even if I wanted to.

These science-backed questions (~95% of them) are just the first step for any command to further develop their culture. I encourage every member of our outfits to continuously share your honest feedback throughout the rest of the semester and Corps career. 6BATT/Outfit Leadership is committed to the growth of the units and our people.

V/R,

LT
